

Website privacy notice

How information is handled when you browse truselv.co.uk, enquire about a product or ask for help. This PDF reproduces the website notice dated 15 September 2026.

Who this notice covers

This notice covers the TruSelv marketing website and product, demo, support and order enquiries sent to TruSelv. Contact support@truselv.co.uk or write to We Are Super, High St, Weston-super-Mare BS23 1HL, United Kingdom for privacy questions. See company information for the website operator and contracting details.

It does not describe patient-data processing inside Bedbord or TESS. A care organisation using a product must provide its own relevant privacy information. Product-specific notices and agreements must be reviewed before deployment.

Information you provide

Enquiries may include your name, email, organisation, role, product of interest, postcode or ODS code, referral source and the message you choose to write. An order enquiry also includes the requested quantity and delivery postcode. Do not send patient records, health details, identity documents or payment-card information through these forms.

Form information remains in the current page's memory until you choose to send it. It is not saved to browser storage. In email mode, the site prepares a message for your email application; you choose whether to send it. Copying a message places it on your clipboard at your request.

Browsing and providers

The website serves its own fonts, images and videos and does not include advertising pixels, analytics trackers or embedded third-party video players. Hosting and network providers can receive ordinary request information, such as IP address, requested URL, user agent and time, to deliver and secure the site.

The current static site is intended for GitHub Pages hosting. Read GitHub's privacy statement for provider information. If the site is served through another provider, that deployment's hosting arrangements must be reflected in this notice.

Your email service processes messages you send. TruSelv's email and, where enabled, form delivery providers process enquiries to deliver them to us. Enabled enquiry forms use Resend to deliver your message and reply address to support@truselv.co.uk. Delivery addresses are entered manually and passed to Stripe when opening secure checkout. Secure checkout embeds Stripe, which processes payment and delivery details; TruSelv does not receive card numbers. Read the Resend privacy notice and Stripe privacy notice.

Why we use it

Product and demo enquiries: to respond and arrange a conversation. Our basis is legitimate interests in handling business enquiries, or steps at your request before entering a contract where applicable.

Orders and support: to discuss or fulfil the relevant contract, resolve issues and maintain appropriate business records.

Security and service operation: legitimate interests in delivering and protecting the website and communications.

Legal requirements: to meet applicable accounting, tax, consumer or other legal obligations.

Acknowledging this notice is not consent to marketing. These forms do not subscribe you to a marketing list. We do not use these enquiries for automated decisions with legal or similarly significant effects.

Sharing and international processing

Information is shared only as needed with people handling the enquiry, service providers supporting delivery, or advisers and authorities where required by law or to establish or defend legal rights. We do not sell enquiry information for advertising.

Provider infrastructure may process information outside the UK. Where a restricted international transfer is involved, an appropriate transfer mechanism must be in place. Contact us for information about the recipients and safeguards relevant to your enquiry. Do not infer UK-only hosting or a specific product data location from this marketing site.

How long information is kept

Enquiry information is kept while the conversation or support issue is active and for the period needed to handle follow-up, complaints or relevant legal obligations. Order and accounting records may need to be retained for statutory periods. Information that is no longer needed should be deleted or anonymised.

Retention is determined by the type of enquiry, any resulting contract and applicable obligations. Ask us for the retention period or criteria that apply to your information. The marketing website itself does not store a persistent copy of form data or a shopping basket in your browser.

Your rights

Depending on the circumstances, you can request access, correction, erasure, restriction or portability of your personal information, or object to processing based on legitimate interests. If processing relies on consent, you can withdraw it without affecting earlier lawful processing.

Send a request to support@truselv.co.uk. We may need proportionate information to verify identity. Rights have conditions and exceptions; we will explain any that apply. You can also raise a concern with the Information Commissioner's Office.

Changes and contact

This version is dated 15 September 2026. Review the notice when providing new information, as services and providers may change. Product-data questions should also be directed to the care organisation responsible for your care.
